Funds Sought for New Post Office

Project Given Top Rating

Cost Set at $1,030,000

The Federal Works Agency today put Mansfield on the "preferred list" for a new $1,030,000 post office.

A recommendation that funds be provided for the project was sent to a congressional committee.

Mansfield was scheduled to get a new post office in the late 1930's, but the war sidetracked the project indefinitely.

A remodeling program was started recently to put the present 35-year-old building in condition to handle the growing volume of mail in Mansfield.

Congressman J. Harry McGregor of the 17th district said he probably would be in Mansfield tomorrow and would look into the post office situation here.

Congressman McGregor said the Public Works committee of which he is a member, was thrown into a turmoil today by the report that immediate construction of post offices was planned.

He said the legislation before the committee at this time would, if approved, merely authorized the post office department to purchase tracts of land in the areas were some future building is planned.

A building program for post offices will be set up, but when any construction will begin is indefinite at this time, he added.

Acting Postmaster Curtis L. Ford said today he had no information about the FWA proposals, but he welcomed news that a new building is at least in the "proposed" stage.

The Mansfield post office is no longer in the population center of Mansfield, it was pointed out.

A survey in 1941 showed the population center of Mansfield at the corner of Park avenue west and Bowman street.

A new post office for Mansfield was first proposed in 1936 by the late Congresman William A. Ashbrook. Postmaster at that time was H. E. Homberger.

If a new building is erected here it will not resemble in outward appearance the present building, post office men say.

The trend in post office building is to make the building more functional, but that eliminates some of the stately appearance.

Most new post offices are built on ground level, so patrons probably won't have the long flight of stairs to climb if the new one is built.

Rental Bill Draws Blast

WASHINGTON — (INS) — A battered administration leadership gave senate priority today to a rent control extension bill which Democratic National Chairman McGrath said should be "called by its proper name —rent decontrol."

"States' Rights" Republicans were more dissatisfied with the 10 per cent maximum rent boost bill than were Democratic leaders who put it down for opening debate Monday.

Majority leader Lucas (D) Ill., announced that the measure will be made the unfinished business of the Senate today and formally come under consideration the first of next week.

It was the first major bill scheduled to emerge from the logjam piled up by the 20-day battle over the anti-filibuster rule. Behind it are the foreign aid, reciprocal teade, housing, and Taft-Hartley repeal bills—all ready for Senate action.

Diver Loses Pants; Oscar Remains Free

CHURUBUSCO, Ind.—(UP)—Oscar, the mammoth turtle of Fulks lake, enjoyed another day of freedom today because diver Woodrow Rigsby lost his trousers.

Rigsby was all set to dive into the seven-acre lake yesterday when he discovered that the pants to his special reinforced diving suit were missing.

Farmer Gale Harris, who owns Fulks lake, has been trying to capture Oscar for weeks. Some say the reptile weighs 500 pounds with a head the size of a man's and a shell as big as a table top.

Lawyer Paid For Writing T-H Measure

Testifies Before Repeal Hearing

WASHINGTON — (INS) — A Washington attorney testified today that he was paid by the Republican National committee to help write the Taft-Hartley labor law.

Gerald D. Morgan, regarded by many as the "father" of the Taft-Hartley labor bill, told a House Labor subcommittee that he was engaged for the work by Rep. Halleck (R) Ind., and former Rep. Hartley (R) N. Y.

Morgan stated that in the early part of 1947 he was requested by Hartley, who was then committee chairman, to serve as special counsel to the Republican members, who controlled the committee.

He added that Halleck, then House Majority leader had previously discussed the matter with him.

Morgan stated that during the entire period when he worked for the committee he received no compensation. Several months after the bill became law, he added, "through the good offices of Mr. Halleck, I received compensation for my time from the Republican National committee.

Morgan gave the first "inside story" of how the Taft-Hartley law was written during a hearing before the subcommittee on legislation seeking its repeal.

The witness said he gave his "blow-by-blow" report on the law's origin with the consent of Halleck and Hartley.

Woman Seeks To Fly Kite Until Easter

COLUMBUS — (UP) — Mrs. Doris Acosta, claimant to the national kite-flying endurance championship, was running into trouble today in her try to better her former mark of 23½ hours.

At 9 a.m. her kite had been flying for 19 hours and heavy snowfall buffeted the tiny 10-cent kite she hopes to keep flying until Easter.

"It's at 5,000 feet now," the 20-year-old housewife said, "and out of sight."

She's got so much string out now that she doesn't expect to ever get the kite down. When a snowstorm forced her to bring it in Wednesday night, it took her two hours to reel in the 3,080 feet of string.

Hungary Rips United States

BUDAPEST, HUNGARY —(AP) — The Hungarian government charged today that "official American attitude toward Hungary has been aggressive lately."

The statement, in an official communique, assailed the United States government's refusal to permit five Hungarians to enter the country as delegates to a "world peace conference."

(The U. S. State department denied them visas in retaliation for communist Hungary's treatment of American officials.)

Reinstate 7 Ousted Officials

Lorain Eagles Take Action

The secretary and six trustees of the Lorain lodge of the Fraternal Order of Eagles were back in office today by unanimous consent of the local members.

All seven recently were removed by the state organization for "failure to cooperate." However, three members of Aerie (lodge) 343 called this a cover-up.

In an injunction request, they said the real reason was the officers' refusal to install slot machines by order of Matthew L. Brown of Springfield, state organizer of the Eagles. The temporary injunction was granted.

Last night, at a meeting of about 300 Eagles, Secretary William Kniepper and the six trustees were reinstated. Eagles attended from Galion, Crestline, Norwalk, Mansfield, Ashland, Elyria, Amherst and Cleveland.

'SAME HERE'

The situation in Lorain parallels one here in which Secretary-Manager A. J. Eglesberg was forced to resign along with all officers and trustees, Jan. 12, of this year when they refused to abide by an order to install slot machines which Eglesberg said were controlled by Brown.

Eglesberg said he refused to install the "lodge-owned" slots because the last time previously when he had taken out locally controlled slots and put in Brown-controlled machines, the Mansfield Eagles club was almost immediately raided by

Anti-Pact Reds Riot

One Killed In Italian Flareup

ROME — Communist deputies doggedly persisted in their record "chain-reaction" filibuster today in an effort to block parliamentary approval of Italy's entry into the Atlantic pact.

Wide-spread violence which accompanied the communist talk-fest, left one person dead, 34 wounded and 600 in jail—150 of them in Rome.

While the weary chamber of deputies waited for the communists and the left-wing Socialists to talk themselves out—each of them are entitled to a ten minute speech when they deliver their vote-Minister of the Interior Mario Scelba announced that the "situation is under control"—A reference to yesterday's disorders.

Scelba, tough boss of Italy's police, said that police resorted to firearms only in Terni, where a laborer was killed and four wounded. Other casualties occurred in Rome, Salerno, Florence, Bari and Bologna.

Five thousand heavily armed police threw a cordon around the foreign office and parliament yesterday and set up roadblocks to prevent a communist march.

Ban Ex-Nazis' Trip to U. S.

FRANKFURT — (UP) — More than 100 German businessmen who wanted to attend the German trade fair in New York sponsored by the military government have been banned because of their nazi sympathies, allied investigators said today.

The top-ranking victim of Gen. Lucius D. Clay's "keep-the-nazis-home" policy is Peter Pixis, chief planner of the exposition.

Pixis was black-balled by Clay personally over the protests of W. John Logan, New York businessman who heads the three-power joint export-import agency (JEIA), which is supervising fair arrangements.

Sees Hope For 'Fair Deal'

Truman Sails Into Dixiecrat Faction

KEY WEST, Fla.—(INS)—President Truman held out words of friendliness rather than bitterness toward a rebellious Congress today, and expressed confidence that his "Fair Deal" program will still be approved.

The chief executive sailed into Dixiecrats and others opposing his program, but asserted that most of the Congress is fundamentally all right.

The President summed up his comments on the events of the past week in Congress, which saw his program take a series of severe setbacks, with the statement that this is a new Congress. "Give them time to do the job," he said.

He added: "I think we ought to give the Congress a chance to act."

Mr. Truman lifted his voice in fighting mood only once during the conference.

He said that Dixiecrats are not good Democrats.

The President said what has been happening in the Congress is that a three-party system has been at work—Democrats, Republicans and Dixiecrats. He said the same thing occurred during the campaign.

Mr. Truman made it clear that he is not discouraged by the series of blows aimed at his program by a rebellious coalition of Dixiecrats and Republicans.

He was asked:

"Do you regard the events of the past week in Congress as a ground swell against your entire 'Fair Deal' program?"

The President responded with an emphatic "no."

He said he did not think it had any significance in that regard at all.

He said:

"I think we are going to get our program."

Indict Two In Robbery

CLEVELAND —(AP)—A federal grand jury today indicted Elmer Chronister, 30, Plymouth, and Homer Brown, 23, Shiloh, for the armed robbery of the Farmers Citizens bank at Tiro, July 27, 1948.

The bank reported loss of $2,350 in the holdup.

Brown now is serving a term of 18 months at the federal penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa., for transporting a stolen car from Ohio to Kentucky.

Chronister, a former Mansfielder, was captured Feb. 19 at the home of his wife in Euclid, and Brown was identified as the second bandit two days later.

The FBI, aided by Marshall Robert Meiser of Tiro, solved the bank robbery.

B-r-r, More Snow Due

Icy Roads Make Travel Dangerous

Mansfielders had another slippery time of it early today as more snow covered most of the state and dropped temperatures to the un-spring like range of 16 to 32 degrees.

Moreover, the weatherman wasn't too hopeful that things would improve in the near future. Cloudy, colder and windy with snow flurries tonight and continued cold Saturday was the prediction.

A rising trend is foreseen for Sunday and again Tuesday or Wednesday, but snow is likely for Sunday and rain or snow on Wednesday, totaling one-fourth inch in north and one-fourth to one-half inch in the south portion. Temperatures will average two to four degrees below normal.

Road conditions were reported "fair but slippery in spots" in the area. Four cinder trucks were on the streets at 6 a. m. today and crews worked the main arteries in the city.

County Engineer Walter Rusk said county crews took out seven cinder trucks on county roads and that all highways were open. The state highway department said that roads were slippery in the southwestern, western, central, eastern and northern portions of the state. Good road conditions prevailed near Cleveland and in the southern portion of the state.

Wants Steel Plates Again In 1950

Fragile License Tags Irk Lausche, Too

Motorists probably won't have to worry about fragile aluminum auto tags in 1950.

Gov. Frank J. Lausche said today he was dissatisfied with the way the aluminum plates are failing to hold up and would recommend that steel be used in the 1950 licenses.

Mansfield area motorists complained a few days after the new tags were issued that the plates were whipping loose in the wind and were difficult to fasten to the brackets.

Lausche said "either the thickness should have been of a heavier gauge or steel should have been used" in the 1949 plates.

The Democratic governor pointed out that the decision to use aluminum was made during the administration of former Republican Governor Thomas J. Herbert in 1947.

"The cost of aluminum plates up to this time has been 18 cents a set and as of April 1 will be 22 cents a set," Lausche said. "I am informed that steel plates of a guage as formerly used would cost approximately 12 cents a set. The difference in the cost is 10 cents."

"Having in mind that we issue about 2,500,000 sets. if a saving of 10 cents were made on each set it would amount to $250,000," the present governor said.

Lausche said he had instructed Motor Vehicles Director Frank Quinn to confer with prison officials in charge of making the plates "to the end that steel may be used in the 1950 plates."

He did not say what would be done with the 375 tons of aluminum on hand which he said was "regrettably" purchased in the summer of 1948 and intended for license plates in 1950.

Allies Pledge Resistance to Armed Attack

BULLETIN

ROME—(AP)—The chamber of deputies, beating down a dogged leftist filibuster, voted tonight to authorize the government to negotiate Italy's adherence to the North Atlantic defense alliance.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The North Atlantic treaty, it was disclosed officially today, would pledge the United States and allied nations to resist automatically an "armed attack" against any one of them —possibly by "the use of armed force."

Each nation would decide for itself whether military force was "necessary." The pact thus recognizes that in this country only Congress can declare war.

The unprecedented treaty, proposing for the first time in peace to bind America in an alliance with European nations, was made public at 11 a. m. (EST) by the United States and the seven other countries which intend to sign it here about April 4.

Disclosure of the terms is expected to arouse Russia to new heights in propaganda attacks against the alliance. The Soviets already have denounced it as an aggressive move against them, despite assertions of western leaders that its aim is strictly defensive.

The treaty provides for creation of a council of the member nations, and of a defense committee to strengthen and coordinate the defenses of the whole huge region of North America, Western Europe and the North Atlantic.

An attack against the territory, occupation forces, ships, planes or islands of any of the allies anywhere in this vast area would be the signal for all the powers to spring into action, according to the treaty's provisions.

The key provision of the pact is Article five, which says:

"The parties agree that an armed attack against one or more of them in Europe or North America shall be considered an attack against them all; and consequently they agree that, if such an armed attack occurs, each of them, in exercise of the right of individual or collective self defense recognized by Article 51 of the Charter of the United Nations, will assist the party or parties so attacked by taking forthwith, individually and in concert with the other parties, such action as it deems necessary, including the use of armed force, to restore and maintain the security of the North Atlantic area.

"Any such armed attack and all measures taken as a result thereof shall immediately be reported to the U.N. Security council. Such measures shall be terminated when the security council has taken the measures necessary to restore and maintain international peace and security."

RUSSIA ON NOTICE

That is the long-debated section which, although stopping short of an automatic pledge to go to war, is designed to put Russia on notice that an attack on any of the western powers would instantly be met by all of them.

The "parties" referred to in the pact are the nations signing it. These will definitely include the United States, Canada, Norway, Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg. In addition Iceland, Portugal, Denmark and Italy have been invited and are expected to sign.

After next month's signing the treaty will come into actual force when a majority of the governments have ratified it.

Even while the Senate is debating the treaty, President Truman is expected to send to Congress a billion dollar program to rearm the treaty nations of western Europe and thus give added meaning to the all-important Article Five.

Highlights of Atlantic Pact

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Here at a glance are the highlights of the North Atlantic Treaty.

"The parties undertake . . . to refrain in their international relations from the threat of use of force in any manner inconsistent with the purposes of the United Nations."

★

"They will seek to eliminate conflict in their international economic policies and will encourage economic collaboration between any or all of them."

★

"The parties agree that an armed attack against one or more of them in Europe or North America shall be considered an attack against them all .....

★

". . . They agree that, if such an armed attack occurs, each of them, in exercise of the right of individual or collective self-defense recognized by article 51 of the Charter of the United Nations, will assist the party or parties so attacked by taking forthwith, individually and in concert with the other parties, such action as it deems necessary, including the use of armed force, to restore and maintain the security of the North Atlantic area."

What It Means

Pact Reverts to 'Balance Of Power' In Diplomacy

(Editor's Note: The following article analyzes the Atlantic pact in terms of what it means militarily and diplomatically.)

By R. H. SHACKFORD

LONDON—(UP)—The North Atlantic pact to be made public in Washington today binds some 4,600,000 armed men of the western allies into a single force facing some 4,900,000 Russian and satellite troops.

These virtually equal forces strikingly illustrate the basic conclusion that can be drawn from the Atlantic pact—that the world again has reverted to the balance of power technique in the field of diplomacy.

Few responsible officials believe that another war is inevitable or even that there will be one in the foreseeable future. But the international atmosphere is tense and the tinest spark could touch off an atomic conflict unprecedented in the world's history.

Every major nation on the globe is preparing itself against just such a catastrophe. They already have chosen up sides for the next war. The lineup puts 15 countries with a total population of 371,832,000 on the side of the west. Russia has seven countries with a total population of 255,354,000.

The western lineup included not only members of the Atlantic pact but those other nations — Greece and Turkey, for example — so closely linked with the west that they would be involved early in the conflict.

Lined up with Russia are the powerful communist parties in Europe and elsewhere, all of which have declared they would fight on the side of the Soviet should war come.

The massive war machine of Russia and her satellites is concentrated in a solid bloc in Central Europe between the Baltic and Black seas. The western allies, on the other hand, are spread out over vast areas of the globe, separated by oceans.

Russia has more land power, but the west excels in air and sea power. Faced with this condition, Russia has placed her faith in the German strategy of two wars — a powerful underseas fleet to cut sea lines of communications.

Both sides are building up their armed strength in the biggest armaments race in history.

Experts Put Tyger 5 Up As Favorite

TOLEDO — Mansfield Senior high keeps its first regional basketball tourney date tonight with an upset-minded Bowling Green high school aggregation on the Toledo U field house court at 7.30.

Making their first regional meet appearance since 1944, the Tygers have been placed in the favorite's role by coaches and sports writers. However, anything can happen when the big high school cage field narrows down to regional competition.

SHOULD BE EVEN

Coach Vern Hoffman of the Tygers insists that the two teams should be rated even. "After all, Bowling Green knocked off two good teams easily in the district," he says "And it has the best defensive record in the tournament"

The Tygers and Falcons are among the 15 teams still in the running for state championship honors. Dayton Dunbar became the first regionalist to bow out when it fell before Lancaster last night, 44 to 43.

In the other half of tonight's Toledo bill, Columbus Central battles Toledo Central Catholic. Class A finals are scheduled for tomorrow night at 8·15 in the field house

If Mansfield gets by Bowling Green, tickets for the Saturday contest will go on sale tomorrow morning at the commercial office in Senior high school. Mansfield will get approximately 1,000 tickets for the finals in the advent of a victory.

LOSE ONLY TWO

Hoffman's club has lost only two of its last 14 games and will take a 18-7 record into tonight's game Bowling Green has won 14 and lost six. The Tygers have averaged 52 2 points to 43 3 for the opposition while the Falcons have 42.1 and 36.3

The best record belongs to Columbus Central with 24 wins and one defeat while Toledo has 23 victories and three defeats.

Senior high's 12-man squad was scheduled to leave at noon today and will stay overnight win or lose. Hoffman will go along with his regular crew of Jimmy Anderson and Ed Demyan, forwards; Norb Shibinski, center and Paul Ferguson and Ken McCally, guards. Ed Schmitt, the 6-3 forward center, is ready for that first call.

A big advantage in the height department is one of the reasons for the experts boosting the Mansfield stock. Ferguson is the only Tyger in the first seven who goes under six-foot while Bowling Green has only one player above the mark.

GOES AT 6-4

Center Dave White towers 6-4 while Brian Firsdon and Jim Cranker, the forwards, are both about 5-10 Norman Mooney and Lloyd Pearson at guards are just one inch taller.

Bowling Green operates off a double pivot with Craner and Firsdon as the leading scorers Against Toledo Libbey. Cranker made six of 22 shots and Firsdon, eight of 19

The Bowling Green record follows:

Cleveland Rookies 'Give' White Sox 15-4 Victory

TUCSON, Ariz —(INS)—The Cleveland Indians' brain trust may have to revise their policy of throwing inexperienced pitchers against the weaker clubs in training camp exhibitions.

Four Tribe hurlers, three of them rookies, gave the Chicago White Sox 15 runs, 16 hits and 13 walks yesterday in a dull exhibition as the lowly Sox bounced the defending world champs, 15-4, in Tucson.

Will Hafey, big hurler from the Pacific Coast league, allowed three runs and five hits and gave up two bases on balls in the first three innings.

Dick Rozek, a young left-hander who has trouble controlling his fast ball, was hit for seven runs and six hits and issued seven passes in the four innings he was on the mound.

Nor was George Anderman, the young hurler who will be sent to the Indians' Oklahoma City farm club, any more effective He served the hungry White Sox four runs on two hits and three walks in the eighth inning.

Veteran Sam Zoldak, slated to be one of the Tribe's top relief pitchers this season, was nicked for one run on three hits and a base on balls in the final inning.

Robert Avila, the Mexican second baseman, was the only bright spot in the Cleveland lineup. He pounded a double off the right field wall in the second inning and slapped a single to center field in the eighth. He also handled eight fielding chances without a miscue.

Hank Edwards, the Indians' hard-luck outfielder, will be on the sidelines for at least five days with a dislocated right shoulder.

During batting practice his shoulder jumped out of place when he swung at a wide pitch and nicked the edge of the batting cage.

The chases are sponsored for the purpose of raising funds for restocking and feeding of wild game throughout the county and surrounding territory.

TO GET PHEASANTS

"This spring we had an order placed for ten dozen Missouri rabbits, but due to the extra heavy snowfall in the west this winter, our order had to be cancelled as trapping the rabbits for shipment became impossible. We now have our order placed for eight dozen stock pheasants These birds will be matured and will be in egg production when delivered in June, and will be released six hens and a cock at a time," Stall explained.

He also said that restocking has been showing good results as there are more rabbits and pheasants now than there has been for many years. He reported that the Coon Hunters have been enjoying good hunting this season.

The association released 65 wild coon this winter, and it is indicated that there are a lot left for stock for next year.

Lunch and refreshments will be served on the fairgrounds, Sunday and the public is invited to attend the chase.

Owns Part of Lima Stadium

LIMA — (UP) — Mrs. Merely Shulaw today sought to collect a $14 700 claim for back rent which she said is due from the Lima Board of Education for use of a lot.

The piece of land which Mrs. Shulaw claims is located in the southeast corner of Lima's municipal stadium.

Mrs Shulaw said in a petition filed in common pleas court that the board of education should be put off the land. She said the board, which bought the ground for the stadium, failed to acquire the property at the time

Lancaster Edges Dayton, 44-43

(By International News Service)

Seven schoolboy cage teams earned places last night in the finals of eight Regional high school basketball tourneys and tonight the remaining nine are to be determined.

Six of last night contests in preparation for next week's state finals in Columbus were in the Class B division, the lone exception being Lancaster's narrow win over Dayton Dunbar at Cincinnati.

The Golden Gales from Fairfield county staged a last-period spurt to win a 44-43 victory over Dayton Dunbar, the all-negro school from the Gem city. Lancaster was behind at halftime 29 to 22, but a side-court shot by Bill Arledge in the last two minutes of play put the gales out in front to stay.

The six "B" regional finalists determined last night were North Canton and Lowellville at Kent; Delphos St. Johns and undefeated Salem at Toledo; New Vienna at Springfield and Woodsfield at Athens.

Salem made it 28 straight in turning back Walbridge, 43-28. The Wyandot county boys will meet Delphos St. Johns in Saturday's finals in the Toledo tourney. Delphos scored a 65-57 win over Ottawa Hills for the Allen county entry's 26th win in 29 starts.

History repeated itself at Kent as North Canton, for the second straight year, eliminated Midvale of Tuscarawas county. The Stark Countians won 37 to 29 and will meet Lowellville, 53-38 winners over Akron Ellet, in the Kent B finals Saturday.

New Vienna withstood a final quarter splurge by a fighting London team to earn a place in the Springfield regional finals. The final score showed the Clinton county team on top a 44-43 ballgame. The victory was Vienna's 26th against two losses and pits them against the winner of tonight's Hollansburg-Lockland - Wayne game for a place at Columbus.

Woodsfield won a place in the Athens finals as expected with a 56-41 win over Worthington. The Monroe county squad, in chalking up its 28th victory in 30 starts, was ahead all the way. The winner of tonight's New Boston-New Lexington game will meet Woodsfield in the finals.

Final Drive Set Saturday

The final fox drive of the year will be held tomorrow at 8·45 a m , Harold Snyder, president of the Fox Hunters association, announced today.

The drivers will meet at the Ontario schoolhouse for the all-day hunt No lunch will be served on this hunt, Snyder added. All men were instructed to carry their own lunch and the hunt will stop at a specified time for the quick snack.

Afternoon hunters will be picked up at the corner of West Fourth street and Ontario Springmill roads at 12 30 p.m

Bowling Green, Bradley Bow Out of Cage Meet

San Francisco Five To Battle Loyola

NEW YORK—(UP)—Can the slick resourceful Dons of San Francisco university find out how to stop Jack Kerris, Loyola of Chicago's one-man team, and thus win the national invitation basketball tournament?

That was the big question dribble-dizzy Madison Square Garden fans were asking today about the payoff battle between these two unseeded and once lightly-regarded finalists tomorrow night.

Coach Pete Newell's west coast Dons provided the fifth major upset of the invitation event last night in the semifinals as they overcame Bowling Green's overwhelming height advantage for a 49 to 39 triumph before a crowd of 18,301.

And the Rollicking Ramblers from Chicago proved once again that "as Kerris goes, so goes Loyola," by rallying from a 10-point first half deficit to beat Bradley, 55 to 50, on a brilliant last-half performance by their six-foot, six-inch pivot man.

Don Lofgran, San Francisco's six-foot-six iron-man with the amazing kangaroo leap, turned in a magnificent shooting, rebounding and defensive performance in the Dons' second straight surprise victory.

Lofgran's spectacular one-hand push shots netted 24 points on 10 field goals and four free throws He held Charley Share, Bowling Green's six-foot, 11-inch center to six field goals, and easily commanded three-quarters of the rebounds under both boards.

TOP FIGURE

Kerris, the talented pivot-shot artist, easily was the outstanding figure as Loyola eliminated Bradley in a masterminding battle between the rival coaches, Tom Haggerty of the Ramblers and Forrest Anderson of the Braves.

Kerris was limited to a single free throw and only five shots from the floor as the Bradley scramblers double and triple-teamed on him for a straight-jacket zone defense and took a 31 to 22 half time lead

But Haggerty switched Loyola's offensive from an outside-shooting game to a fast-breaking, drive-in attack in the second half and the Ramblers caught fire

14 Pin Teams Seek Top In Kegling Meet

Fourteen quintets of lady keglers will attack the pins on the Colony alleys tomorrow night as the Women's city bowling tournament goes into the second of three scheduled week-ends

Jerry's 36 Bar rolled into top position last week but is due for a drop tomorrow if some of the girls get their sights set right. The 36 Bar girls fired a 2585 score last week and any teams with ambitions of taking over the top will have to better that mark.

Set to fire on the 7 p m. shift tomorrow night are Westinghouse Team 1, Waldman Meats, Gay Nineties, All-States Freight, The Elms, Farmer's Market, McCarrick's Gulf, Kay Shoppe, Pendleton's, Ringside Nite Club, Mitsch's Corner Store, and Hart's Dairy store. Two teams, Liederkranz and Montgomery and Ward, take over on the second shift. Last week's top ten:

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4 If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Oust DAV In Bingo Fight

YOUNGSTOWN — (AP) — Robert Taylor chapter of the Disabled American Veterans, facing investigations by state and national officers of the D. A. V., yesterday were evicted from its quarters here, effective March 31.

Protesting members of the chapter have charged the bingo games operated for years by the chapter yielded up to $158,000 a year and that some of the funds were being pocketed by the men who operated the bingo.

Charges also were aired at a meeting here that $19,000 was issued in payoff money prior to Jan. 1, 1948.

The games have been suspended under order of Albert L. Croy of Cincinnati, state commander of the D. A. V.

YMCA Is Active Peace Agency, Canadian Says In Talk Here

J. Hartley Fowler, World Service secretary of the Canadian YMCA and secretary of the YMCA International committee, described conditions in the Middle East and Europe when he addressed the Kiwanis club yesterday noon and the Mansfield YMCA board of trustees last night.

While the Arabs and Jews are fighting over the Holy Land, their sons are playing, swimming, and singing together in the Jerusalem YMCA along with the children of 31 other nationalities, he said.

"The future of international peace lays with the youth of today," Fowler stated in explaining the part the International YMCA is doing in bringing together the various races and creeds that assemble at YMCA's throughout the world.

Reporting on a recent 18,000-mile trip through Europe and the eastern Mediterrenean countries, Fowler told how he visited YMCA's still operating in lands where the hammer and sickle hold sway.

In these Russian-dominated countries, such as Czechoslovakia, Poland, and Romania the YMCA is one of the few bulwarks left with Christian ideals to fight communism, he said.

Ohio Wheat Planting to Be Slashed By Estimated 20 Per Cent

Allotment Plans Now Under Study

Farm Production Markets Shrink

COLUMBUS — (INS) — An approximate 20 per cent slash for Ohio's fall wheat planting was promised today by Chris Kainrid, state director of the Production Marketing association

The director said groundwork is being laid for the first allotment regulations since 1942. He said county PMA offices throughout the state are preparing for the initial step by calculating the production histories of each farm in their county.

Tabulations of the records for the past ten years will be used to compute the exact acreage allocations for each area in the state.

Stating that "every farmer in Ohio will be affected by the allotments Kainrid explained that the reduction of planting was advocated because of a shrinkage' of domestic and foreign markets

The director predicted that prices in the wheat market are likely to take a dip at harvest time this year and, that in line with the same trend, commodity loan or support prices would be lower

Although Ohio's 1948 wheat crop was surpassed only by production in 1937 and '38, the 1949 crop probably will move last years figures to fourth place in the ten-year records

Kainrid said a national wheat harvest of 865 000.000 bushels is expected and only about 700 million is needed He explained that since prevailing wheat prices are below the support price, a large quantity of wheat will be turned over to government storage by farmers who participate in the program this year

The agriculture executive said war-time demands have swelled Ohio wheat production to more than one-third as much acreage as 1943 He added that, as a result, farmlands are being overworked.

Kainrid expressed the opinion that the allotments would aid in supporting wheat prices which had been on the decline since November 1948

Top Secret Conference Revealed

Can Easily Sway German Future

By WALTER LIPPMANN

A big story originating in the British zone of Germany through Reuters, the British news agency, has just reached this country

It reports a meeting, held in "extreme secrecy," of west German conservative economic and political leaders with the former German ambassador in Moscow, Rudolf Nadolny who lives in the Soviet zone.

The Reuters dispatch, which not normally have been filed without the assent of the British authorities, says that the meeting took place in the home of Dr Andreas Hermes, former leader of the Christian Democratic union and now head of the farmer's organizations in the western zones

We must note that, according to the dispatch, the invitation to the conference said that "political developments in the last few months have given rise to the fear that the splitting up of our fatherland may not remain provisional but may become permanent or at least long term"

It is difficult to believe that this story is untrue A responsible agency like Reuters operating under British military government would not file an unverified dispatch containing such unqualified and sensational statements of fact The story is moreover, quite credible in that sooner or later negotiations of this kind between the west and east Germans were in the nature of things bound to take place

We may expect to hear more of this in the future It is, I think, reasonable to assume that in the secret conversations which are now taking place between the Russians and the Germans they must be discussing what would happen if the Western powers agree to negotiate on the basis of this proposal

And also what the Germans and the Russians will do if the western powers refuse

My own guess is that German-Russian negotiations will surely go on anyway But if we refuse to negotiate on a four-power basis for the neutralization and evacuation of Germany, the German - Russian negotiations will be accelerated and will require increasing momentum under the pressure of the German voters and the politicians who appeal to them

If on the other hand being adequately prepared and with astute men to represent us we accept the negotiation for an all-German settlement we can then still hope to exercise a sufficient influence upon the settlement agents of the state liquor department

He said he told Brown's representative "I'm not going to take the rap for you fellows again"

Municipal court is still holding the seven slot machines seized at the Eagles club Sept 2, 1947, as a result of the raid by state liquor agents The slots are in the police confiscation storage room at the City building

Eglesberg was cited in municipal court and fined $100 and given a 10-day suspended sentence in the county jail on a gambling charge as a result. Eglesberg said the club paid his fine and that the machines were controlled by Brown.

Municipal Judge H H Schettler in passing sentence ordered Court Clerk Paul Ritchie to destroy the machines However, state agents asked the court that the machines not be destroyed until the state decided if it wanted the machines as evidence

Late in October of 1947, at a liquor board hearing in Columbus, the Eagles Lodge liquor permit was suspended for the balance of its duration, until Dec. 18, 1947, Eglesberg said The permit was renewed at that time

NO REPLY

Ritchie said today he had sent a letter about six months ago to the state board asking if they wanted the slot machines for further evidence, but has not had a reply He said he would wait until he received an answer before doing anything about the machines

Eglesberg yesterday released a letter he said he received from Devere Watson, grand worthy president of the Eagles, closing the lodge's recreation room until such time as Eagle-owned 'devices' were installed. The letter, carrying Watson's stamped signature, was dated Dec. 30, 1948

House No Harbor of Safety

There's Danger In Just Staying Home

CHICAGO — (AP — There's no place like home — if you like to live dangerously

That may not sound right to you You probably regard your house as the one safe harbor on the tiled sea of postwar life If you think so you are wrong And if you think you are safest in the peace and quiet of your bedroom you are wrong again Nowhere under the roof are the risks greater

The National Safety council has compiled figure that show there are more accidental deaths in homes than anywhere else last year More than one third (34 900) of the 98 000 lives lost in 1948 accidents were lost in homes Fatal injuries increased in homes while they decreased in traffic on the job and in other categories

What's the reason?

Well, the population of the U S is growing People are living longer There have been bumper crops of babies That means there are more old folks and more small children around The very old and the very young are the ones most likely to get hurt

Experts are on the solid ground of fact when they point to those factors But there are other fields of thought where they can only theorize and ask questions

The housing shortage has caused thousands of families to double up Many households are overcrowded How many old folks used to order are living in a clutter of their grandchildren's toys?

In how many new houses have safety features been eliminated to cut costs? How many jerry-built rooms have been knocked together in attics and basements with such built-in perils as steep narrow stairs and makeshift wiring?

Homes may be deathtraps for an even greater number of Americans in the future There are current influences that could keep people in homes more than they are now — growing unemployment television less loose cash for evenings out

No matter where you spend your days and evenings you have to sleep some time That may be one of the reasons why the sleeping chamber is the most dangerous part of the house

2 Cousins Draw Pen Sentences

Penalized For Theft of $220

Miles Marion Skaggs, 42, and Frank Skaggs, 41, cousins, of 325 North Main street, were sentenced to one to seven years in the Ohio penitentiary yesterday by a three-judge Common Pleas court.

The first man was convicted of grand larceny in the theft of $220 from Carlton Eighmy, also of the North Main street address, with whom they resided.

The case was heard by Judges G. E. Kalbfleisch, Ralph Sugrue of Seneca county, and Walter J. Mougey of Wayne county.

The three judges found him guilty shortly before noon yesterday. Later, Frank Skaggs, charged in the same offense, changed his plea of innocent to guilty.

Both men had criminal records. Frank Skaggs, according to Prosecutor Harold Lutz's records, served time in the Ohio penitentiary for non-support and terms for grand larceny and burglary in the LaGrange, Ky., reformatory.

Miles Marion Skaggs served sentences for a federal charge of robbery at McNeil Island, Washington, two terms at San Quentin prison in California, one for assault with a deadly weapon, and has been cited on numerous misdemeanor counts, Lutz said.

The defendants were represented by Attorney Homer G. Clark and Lutz handled the case for the state.

Mrs. Ferrell, 71-year-old widow was found dead in her Dresden home last Jan. 28. Her hands and feet had been tied with pieces of clothes line.

Rebirth Seen Need Today

Between 800 and 900 persons heard Rev. Jack Shuler declare last night that "regeneration rather than reformation is the need for the hour." He spoke at the evangelistic service in Johnny Appleseed auditorium.

Taking as his subject the rebirth of Nicodemus, Rev. Shuler said, "The only way you can get into the spiritual kingdom is by a birth, as Jesus told Nicodemus, 'Except you are born again you cannot enter the kingdom of heaven.'

"Each of you must experience that rebirth yourself," Rev. Shuler continued. "The only thing wrong with the teaching of the universal fatherhood of God is, it just isn't true. Just joining a church does not give one a ticket to heaven. The thing I'm against is the attempt to get into heaven without the new birth. Entering the church doesn't make one a Christian anymore than entering a garage makes one a car.

"Its the heart that needs to be changed, not the outside," Rev. Shuler concluded. "How is the heart changed? It is changed by looking unto Jesus Christ in implicit faith."

Rev. Shuler's topic tonight will be "The Biggest Fool in Mansfield."

Blame Snow For Lag In Fund Drive

Bad weather is creating "campaign hazards" in the current Red Cross drive. Today's receipts inched up only a few dollars over yesterday's total because volunteer workers in the rural areas find it impossible to get over the bad roads, campaign workers said.

Today's receipts were $28,887, according to the report from headquarters.

However, Glenn L. Bierly, campaign chairman, said today, that while returns are slow in coming in due to the bad weather conditions, areas which have reported have turned in good reports.

Added to the 100 per cent list are the following firms: Moderne Beauty Salon, Harry Brunenshenkel's office, George E. Kyle Realty office, E. R. Friday's office, Max Diner, Metropolitan Life Insurance company, Tom Woodard's, Mansfield Monument company, Citizen's National Bank and Trust company, and Bushnell school.

Measures In Brinkerhoff Area P-TA Asks Better Safety

Brinkerhoff P-TA last night voted to ask Safety-Service Director Earl T. Garrison to obtain better safety measures for the vicinity of the school.

The decision followed a discussion of traffic problems near the school. It came after a talk on fire hazards by Norman A. Imrie of Columbus, and Frank Taylor, safety chairman of the P-TA.

Imrie, a widely-known lecturer, is publicity chairman for the Ohio Fire Safety committee.

"Although children do not have grown-up worries, the fire and traffic hazards of school life are very great," Imrie said. "There are five school fires every day in the United States and last year a total of 2,000 children under five died in fires.

"Fire education is very necessary because too many people shirk their responsibilities for the safety of others."

In connection with traffic hazards, Taylor displayed a map of the school district showing the lack of sidewalks which create a traffic hazard for the school children.

Harold George, P-TA athletic chairman, outlined the spring program of track and intramural sports for both boys and girls.

It was voted to donate $15 to the school hearing program sponsored by the public health department in the schools.

Room attendance awards were won by Mrs. Thelma Young and Miss Dorothy Smith, who tied for first place.

P-TA Honors Patrolmen

Fifteen boys and girls of the Newman Safety Patrol and their adviser, Miss Frances Wolfe, were honored last night at a St. Patrick's day party at Liberty park pavilion by the school P-TA. Hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Addison Patton and Mr. and Mrs. Lester Thompson.

As the pupils arrived they were divided into three teams, named, appropriately, the Kelleys, the Murphys and the O'Briens. Given crepe paper, scissors, paste and other needed supplies, they fashioned St. Patrick's day hats, with prizes going to Barbara Prion, Donald Ernsberger and Lester Connell. Irish games and contests were played.

A brief business meeting was held with the president, Donald Ernsberger, in charge. Dan Kline, safety patrol captain, read the rules of the club. It was decided to hold another patrol meeting on April 21.

Dancing was enjoyed after the program with Donald Ernsberger and Marilyn James winning the elimination dance. The hosts served refreshments.

Views Divide On Power Development

SPECIAL ATTENTION has been drawn to the Hoover Commission findings on federal power development projects, because this was the one area of investigation of government in which the commission was unable to agree on a majority report. The largest support which could be mustered for any one line of opinion was five of the twelve members.

Thus it is emphasized that there is basic disagreement among competent and informed national leaders as to how far the government should go in the development of power from the harnessing of rivers. On the other hand, if the summaries of the differing reports are considered by themselves, they are found to be not so far apart, after all. The recommendation of the five-member report was this:

> "We recommend that the Congress consider, in each case, whether the transmission and distribution of power can be secured under advantageous long-term contracts by selling the power at the generating point before deciding to authorize the construction of government transmission and distribution lines."

This is not a blanket condemnation of government power distribution; it is merely a suggestion that each proposal for a government distribution system should be considered individually and decided on its own merits. The most energetic dissenting report was that of Senator George D. Aiken of Vermont, who declared himself wholeheartedly in favor of complete government systems. Here is the summary sentence of his report:

> "I believe the people of the nation have an inherent right in the water resources of America—and that this right should be safeguarded and protected."

In their ultimate aims, then, they are really the same. It would be pointless for Congress to adopt the five-member recommendation for individual consideration of each case unless it also accepted the Aiken conclusion that the duty of Congress is to safeguard and protect the inherent right of the people in their water resources.

Russia Continues To Block UN

THERE SEEMS to be an inevitable link between the announced failure of the United Nations to achieve settlement of the Berlin currency question and the revelation in London that the five Western Union nations of Europe are embarking on a frank rearmament race.

Once again, the world is putting its faith in weapons rather than arbitration and we are moving toward an armed truce such as preceded the last two wars.

Failure of arbitration through the United Nations is blamed by the West on Russia. And the accusation seems fully justified in view of events in Czechoslovakia, Poland, Hungary, Romania and China.

Only an unanticipated collapse of the Soviet dictatorship from within could, at this juncture, renew hope of gradual progress toward a world government and a permanent peace.

Danger Reaches To Very Young

PARENTS, and all persons concerned as to the welfare of children, can scarcely fail to be seriously impressed by two recent items—one from Wilmington, Del., and the other from Paw Paw, Mich.

The Wilmington item told of the birth of a baby to a 10-year-old mother, and the one from Paw Paw related the plight of a 13-year-old father who is "looking for a job."

Strangely enough, these horrifying incidents cannot be attributed to the "backwardness" of one of the southern states, but happened in states comparable with Ohio in assumed intelligence of its people and in efforts to guard against juvenile delinquency.

This reference to the sorrowful occurrences recently reported seems justified by the opportunity thus given to direct attention of adults to dangers encountered by very young children, unless restraints are imposed by parents, guardians or public services devoted to such supervisory duties.

Another Roosevelt Coming Along

THAT MAGIC name, "Roosevelt," which was first brought into national political prominence a half century ago by "Teddy", promises to carry on indefinitely, as Franklin D. Roosevelt, jr., comes out for the New York City seat in Congress vacated by the death of Rep. Sol Bloom.

It was around forty years ago that the late President Roosevelt, a distant cousin of "Teddy", and on the opposite side of the political fence, made his start in politics by being elected to the state senate; afterward to the governorship of New York and finally to four terms as President of the United States

Now Junior Franklin D.—at the age of 35—enters the picture, with every likelihood of being elected to Congress as a start up the political ladder—and who knows what the next twenty years will bring?

Spring's Peeping Around the Corner

THOUGHTS OF a citizen on the approach of spring: It's certainly going to seem good to get out in the yard again. There's one part of the hedge that needs cleaning out. It should have a new bush. Ought to try some of those new brands of vegetables, too. That's right, the spade handle's broken; must have it fixed. Or maybe some youngster would do it. If he had his own spade it would save the repair bill. Wouldn't get the exercise, of course, but shouldn't exercise too much after 40 anyhow.

There'll be vacation coming along, next. The family will probably want to take a trip. Possibly relaxing at a lake cottage can be promoted. Either one takes money. Should have started thinking about this last year. May have to settle for a hammock in the back yard. Best idea yet—if the family only thought so.

Warm breezes, flowers, birds. Spring's a wonderful time. Ought to repair that bird feeder. Oh well, the birds probably don't care. They can find enough to eat in the summer anyhow. Let it go until fall.

Once more there is mild mention of "pipes for women", but something neater than the corncob models discarded by their grandmothers, perhaps.

It is now revealed that Americans are drinking more coffee—in addition to the other things they are drinking more of.

The robins are back—or haven't they been away?

HOOVER COMMISSION ON GOVERNMENT RE-ORGANIZATION

Raymond Moley's Analysis

Politicians Dodge Discrimination Ban

THE UTTER hypocrisy of administration Democrats in their efforts to force through the Truman civil rights program is shown by what they do when segregation measures arise in their own states and districts.

They are passionately in favor of equality—somewhere else. And so, it may be added, are the Republicans who are helping to intensify this Democratic factional fight.

On February 24, the Senate banking committee by a vote of 10-2 defeated an amendment to prevent segregation and discrimination in federal housing projects. On March 2, the House by a vote of 106-64 defeated a measure to ban segregation in the District of Columbia. On March 4, the House banking committee by a vote of 16-9 rejected an amendment to the rent control bill which would bar discrimination in veterans' rental priorities.

It should be noted also that the administration labor bill omitted that provision in the Taft-Hartley Act which makes it an unfair labor practice for labor unions to discriminate against workers. And the arbitrary manner by which the bill was jammed through prevented any such amendment from being offered or discussed.

* * *

Results are Disturbing.

THIS whole civil rights mumbo-jumbo involves an effort by northern Democrats to retain minority votes which helped to elect Truman and Democratic congressmen at the expense of the southern states.

Whenever they face the stark reality of a genuinely enforced equality in housing or employment, they either avoid the issue entirely or covertly permit such questions to be settled without recourse to law.

The experience of a year or two of northern states with so-called "fair employment" laws shows that provisions for enforcement are largely window dressing. In New York, Governor Dewey's commission has contented itself with moral pressure, conciliation and persuasion.

This is, of course, the only way the government should act in employment practices. But to satisfy powerful minorities teeth were inserted in these laws—teeth that were never designed to bite.

A good deal of plain talk is in order regarding the dangers involved in enforced equality in public housing.

While little is being said in the open, it is a fact that the subject is now providing a terrific headache for New York City housing authorities.

For it is quite clear that, considering the fact that government is pretty well mixed up with all forms of private housing through loans and guarantees, the way is open to enforce complete commingling races in all housing.

Important Negro leaders are not satisfied to see their race restricted to Harlem and other distinctly marked out centers. Their objective is to end these racially uniform sections. And there is no certainty that the courts will not, under the compulsion of loosely drawn laws, provide a wide avenue of opportunity for housing equality.

This is, of course, known to the big insurance companies, and capital in the future is going to move with much more caution.

Reckless campaign promises are coming home. Political promissory notes are being called. And intolerable situations are being created because politicians will not squarely face facts.

Washington Calling

Truman Still 'Jaunty'

By MARQUIS CHILDS

KEY WEST. — If President Truman is disturbed by the way in which his program has bogged down in the rebellious Senate, he gives no sign of it to those around him.

He is his usual jaunty, equable self, determined chiefly during this respite to preserve a little of the privacy that is a luxury customarily denied to presidents.

By a rough estimate at least a hundred would-be guests have been gently but nonetheless firmly dissuaded from joining the President at the modest white frame cottage that the Navy makes available to him at the base here. Only two or three whom the President expressly wanted to see, Chief Justice Vinson among them, have come to Key West.

The four years Mr. Truman has been President have been crowded with events, crowded with problems, crowded with people pushing their troubles and their hopes and fears on him.

It was one of the things hardest for him to learn in the beginning — That he, personally, stood at the focus of power.

Perhaps only he, the chief participant, is fully aware of how crowded with large events has been the era since Roosevelt's death. One of his qualities is an extraordinary memory.

A principal feature of the climate of opinion immediately after V-J day was a rush to get demobilized and have it all over with. Part of that was communist-inspired but most of it came from the pull of the old, contented, peacetime America.

* * *

Verdict Deferred.

LOOKING back, the President understands the handicap of that excessive haste. It was a denial of America's world responsibility; it left great vacuums where there was no power, no acceptance of responsibility.

What happens in the next 14 or 40 years will determine the judgment of history on Mr. Truman's first four years. But at this moment, on the eve of the signing of the Atlantic Pact, he must be credited with a strong, positive foreign policy that has brought Western Europe into at least the beginnings of union which can mean independence.

Too often, it seems to me, Mr. Truman's many critics remember the failures and ignore the achievements. China has the look of a colossal failure. But one thing to bear in mind about Mr. Truman's critics is that they speak almost always out of the council of perfectionists.

With those close to him the President tends to speak of the southern revolt as not too serious in terms of the long-range program. He belives the southern congressmen will get over their peeve, most of them, and line up eventually for the main features of social reform in the Truman program.

There are those who say Mr. Truman's conviction about civil rights is merely political. That wrongs the President. He has a simple sense of justice which is outraged by the cruel and wrong things done to the Negro.

He also has a sense of the position of the white race in a world almost entirely colored. If the white race is to provide leadership for independence and freedom, as opposed to collectivism and enslavement, then there must be clear proof that the two races can live in harmony and equality.

Many will discount Mr. Truman because his virtues so often seem to be negative virtues. But in a time of alarms and excursions, of fear and hysteria, steadfastness or just plain stubbornness can have high value.

Many Angles To Wire-Tapping Scandal

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — If a grand jury ever gets to the bottom of the New York wire-tapping scandal, it will find that it was about as safe to talk on the telephone in Manhattan as to dodge across 5th Avenue in the middle of the traffic rush.

So many big-wigs are involved, however, that it's highly doubtful whether all the facts will ever be made public.

However, it can be revealed that the confidential wire-tapping notebook carried by detective Kenneth Ryan listed the name of Bernard Baruch was being tapped, or about to be tapped.

Furthermore, General Motors had retained the law firm which employed Ryan — John G. Broady — to tap the wires of its auto dealers, presumably to see whether they were selling cars on the black market. Other clients of Broady were Martin Straus of Eversharp Pencil, James Cromwell in his divorce suit against Doris Duke, and Madame Patino, wife of the Bolivian tin millionaire.

Ryan, who works for Broady, used to check the wires of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt's New York home to make sure they were not tapped. In brief, no one's wires in New York were considered safe.

One point of interest to government wire-tapping experts is where the Ryan-Broady combine got their telephone equipment, since it is not easily obtainable.

Ryan has indicated to New York officials that he secured it from the telephone company through underground channels. Mr. Clendenin Ryan, incidentally, recently took over the chairmanship of International Telephone and Telegraph.

* * *

Mr. Ryan Cleans Up.

CLENDENIN RYAN, who donated $1,000,000 to clean up municipal governments from coast to coast, is a rich man's son who has tried, with varying success to do something for his country.

The trouble is that he has tackled a mayor who himself has tangled with Tammany. Also Ryan hasn't known where the power of private money should stop and the government should step in.

Clendenin's grandfather was fabulously rich Thomas Fortune Ryan, who, beginning as a Baltimore dry-goods clerk in 1868, came to own diamond mines in Africa, the street railways of Chicago, the Equitable Life Assurance Company of the USA, the British-American Tobacco Co., plus the electric-light systems in many of the big cities of the United States.

Those were days when income taxes were little or nothing and a man could acquire wealth.

Part of old Thomas Fortune Ryan's $141,000,000 was passed down to grandson Clendenin, a zealous follower of Fiorello LaGuardia, who has wanted to use it more idealistically than his grandfather.

Young Ryan is a close friend of fellow Princetonian Secretary of Defense Forrestal, under whom he served in the Navy. And when communist-inspired strikes paralyzed France in November 1947, Forrestal asked his young friend to raise money to help break the strike. Ryan did so. He passed the hat among New York friends, came back with $25,000.

This was distributed among certain French communist leaders. And, though other factors helped, the French strikes evaporated.

* * *

Heads Mixed Group.

YOUNG Mr. Ryan is now head of a clean-up conglomeration of Park Avenueites, ousted Tammanyites and real reformers.

When Ryan's group resorted to wire tapping to try to ensnare Mayor O'Dwyer, they forgot that the gestapo invasion of privacy under Hitler and Mussolini was one reason Ryan wore a uniform in the recent war.

Here again, perhaps, they were taking a cue from Ryan's old friend. Forrestal, for during the Forrestal regime, Army-Navy intelligence have tapped the wires of Washington newsmen and public officials with wanton abandon.

Or perhaps they were following the cue of Ryan's old boss, Mayor LaGuardia, who also set bad examples by indiscriminate wire tapping (though Tom Dewey wasn't far behind him).

At any rate, when Mayor O'Dwyer finally broke up the telephone network, he discovered, among other things, an apparatus for listening to private conversations without even using wires.

All you had to do was sit in an automobile several hundred feet away from a conversation and listen by means of a newfangled radio eavesdropper.

There may be a lesson for Congress in all this New York monkey-business. A bill is now before Congress permitting more wire tapping rather than less. It would permit even wire-tapped phone conversations to be used as evidence in court. Maybe Congress will take a tip from the New York mess and curtail wire tapping rather than expand it.

Air Force Goes Co-Ed

By INEZ ROBB

SAN ANTONIO, Texas—There are nineteen "airmen" in the officer candidate school at Lackland Air Force base who wear skirts. There are 310 who wear the conventional trousers.

But it is nineteen "airmen" in skirts who are making history in the armed forces, and news, to boot. For these young and attractive WAFS are the guinea pigs with whom the United States Air Force is proving that co-education in the armed forces is as feasible as in the public schools from kindergarten to college.

For the first time in history, the Air Force and armed forces have gone co-ed. Last January 10, the Air Force took a deep breath, hoped for the best and opened the first school for officer candidates in which it enrolled both men and women.

"Yes, yes, a thousand times yes!" cries everyone concerned from the highest brass to the last male officer candidate who burns the midnight oil trying to keep up with the academic pace set by the girls.

These first co-ed classes in the history of the armed forces have proved so extremely successful after a two-months trial that it is doubtful if the Air Force ever again will conduct a strictly stag OCS, if it can find WAFS to leaven the group.

This group of nineteen WAFS, whose average age is 22.5 years, has accomplished two minor miracles:

(1) Its standards of perfection in class and on the parade ground has forever converted the brass to co-education, and

(2) Despite the fact that men candidates, average age 21.7 years, have had to knock themselves out to keep up with the WAFS, there has been no resentment of the women.

* * *

Unanimous Approval.

IT IS a toss-up whether the brass in charge of the school or the men candidates speak more highly and with more genuine admiration of the WAFS.

Col. Robert C. Hopsak, the executive officer in charge of the officer candidate training group, said flatly that the co-ed project had "proved itself" already, with almost four months of the six-months course left to go.

"It's working out in a way to elate us," he said. "Just say it's worked out wonderfully and we're all very, very happy about it." He continued:

"You'd be surprised at what the presence of three or four women in a classroom does. It raises the whole class spirit. I think the men in this group are surpassing themselves. They have to work at least three times as hard to keep up with the women."

But probably the nicest compliment of all came from one of the 310 male candidates, who have been turned into greasy grinds by the WAFS. John N. Kemp, 24, cadet corps commander, when asked what he thought of co-education in the armed forces, grinned and said:

"It sure doesn't lower the curve!" He added voluntarily:

"They're good sports. I've never heard a single derogatory remark against the girls. You'd think the men might resent the fact that they don't have fatigue detail, or extra duties, like officer of the day, that the men have to perform.

"But the men don't resent it at all. They recognize that there are some duties the women shouldn't have to perform."

Like many other officer candidates, Kemp is a veteran of World War II. When he joined the Air Forces three years ago, he had spent three years in the infantry. He returned from the European theatre as a master sergeant in the 84th Division.

The WAFS are not only part and parcel of the academic classes but of formations and parade, where they are scattered among the men candidates according to their height.

And if romances develop in the school, the Air force isn't going to be upset.

Lt. Mary H. Millian of Washington, D. C., the young and pretty tactical officer in charge of the WAFS, common-sensically said:

"There are bound to be romances. After all, they're college age. It's natural, isn't it?"

One Man's Opinion

—By WALTER KIERNAN

HARRY TRUMAN'S vacation is ending but John Lewis is taking another week waiting for a good burn to develop and it will.

* * *

But it was nice of Old John to give his members two weeks rest before the spring strike season opens.

* * *

Mr. Lewis never goes near a beach on his vacation. . . . Some may like to play in the sand but he just likes to sit around and watch the coal pile dwindle.

* * *

Anyway Mr. Truman is flying to Washington to deal with Congress and if necessary he will leave again soon by train.

* * *

There may be some who have not heard the speech which begins "I am asking the Congress to . . ."

* * *

It went big in Peoria.

Dave Boone Says:

I CAN'T shed a tear for those photographers in their clash over taking closeups of President Truman in bathing trunks. With Secretary Acheson just named one of the ten best-dressed men in America, how would it seem to the world to have Truman played up as among the ten best undressed?

* * *

It seems to me that, if there is one place a man is entitled to privacy, it's when he is bathing.

* * *

One of the photographers was taking pictures for television. Maybe Presidential Secretary Charlie Ross had been following the trend in those video vaudeville shows and naturally felt pretty concerned.

* * *

I don't know what to expect next in the New York wire-tapping follies of 1949. But I look for decorated floats, a steam calliope, and some circus clowns to appear in the production any day now.

Farmer's Diary

A Story For Children

By CALVIN A. BYERS

ONE year in Hickory Bottom we raised an acre of fine white potatoes. My brother and I worked long hours batting the softshelled potato bugs off the plants into a rusty gallon pail.

Even after nearly 50 years, I still remember the rank odor of those bugs, creeping and crawling and tumbling in that bucket. We poured oil on the squirming vermin—kerosene th we had lugged in a two-gallon can from the village two miles away.

My father used to prepare the potato patch two years ahead. We plowed down a crop on knee-high clover and left the ground fallow for some weeks before planting. Often he dressed the soil a ter planting with a cover-

He scored out the furrows with a single shovel plow, and used the lead horse, with a single line. We planted the rows oy hand, dropping a little potato at the end of our bare toes, as we walked on the furrow. The fat e used the sin.. shovel plow again to cover the rows. I used to ride the horse.

If the weather was right, the yield was generous. We would dig each row with the same single shovel plow, and pick up the smooth white tubers in baskets and crates.

After the ground was dragged until the surface was level and smooth and immediately f. ller would come with a split basket to turnip seed mixe with sand. He mixed it with sand so that the seed would scatter farther and not be too think upon the ground. After ten days and rain, the old potato patch became a pleasing pale green with tender turnip tops.

A man came there to steal our turnips once. We heard about it afterward and saw a sack that he had left there in the field, with turnips spilling out of it. A shred of his old coat hung on a splinter of the fence, and a big cud of tobacco lay near by. We knew who had been there, even befroe we as his son, a kid we knew, and got the whole story.

"He told me to sit on the top rail and whistle if anybody saw him," said the boy. "It was looked like God's eyes, watching. My grandma said that, and I remembered it. So I whistled as loud as I could and when he came running I told him just how I felt."

"What did he do."

"Nothin'. Just said—all right, we'll go on home."

The young son grew up to be a good useful citizen, respected in our neighborhood.

Plan Your Wardrobe For Weight And Wear If You Are to Fly

WOMEN, ALWAYS WEIGHT conscious, are especially so when they board a plane, the difference being that when they fly they are more concerned with their luggage weight than their own.

The airlines' free baggage allowance is 40 pounds per person for flights in this country, 55 pounds in crossing the border, and 66 pounds for overseas flights. With every extra pound making inroads on her purse, today's traveling woman knows her luggage in terms of how much each piece weighs when packed.

As a general rule, a train case or overnight case will weigh in at about 15 pounds, a wardrobe case at 25, a large pullman case at 35, and a taxi wardrobe at 66.

On her recent trip to Ponte Vedra Beach, Patricia Dickerman, fashion consultant, reports that her wardrobe case and overnight case tipped the scales just under 40 pounds. In thewardrobe were bathing suit and beach coat; a shorts-shirt-skirt outfit for bicycling, tennis and golf; a wool jacket, shoes,, sweater and four dresses—one for daytime, two for cocktails and informal evenings, and one for formal wear. Accessories went in the overnight case. Her light wool travel suit and coat served as extras for coolish days, and she carried a fur jacket to wear at night.

This typical southern wardrobe was quite adequate for a week or two at the Ponte Vedra Inn. Her golf clubs and tennis racquet, Miss Dickerman admitted, exceeded the 40 pound limit by 8 and 2¼ pounds respectively, but the Ponte Vedra links and all-weather courts were worth the excess fee involved.

A good luggage combination for a stay at such resorts as the Belmont Manor or the Princess Hotel in Bermuda is a large pullman case and a train case, the pullman for casual wools, classic sport clothes, and cocktail and evening dresses, and the train case for accessories. This adds up to about 50 pounds, leaving 16 more for an overnight case or for tennis racquet and clubs. The famous Belmont golf course makes the latter almost a must.

For a stay in the Quebec Laurentians. an overnight or train case, plus a large pullman, will fly in as large a wardrobe as you could wear in a week or two, and still be under the 55 pound limit. That extra weight allowance for crossing the border is a welcome one to the ski enthusiast, who goes equipped with plenty of wools from inside out for days on the Laurentian slopes, and with wool dresses, jackets, skirts and slacks for evenings round the great hearthfires that are the happy custom here.

The air traveler today is both style conscious and luggage conscious, and in both cases, an important factor is weight.

American GI Threatened After Being Captured By Russians

BERLIN — (AP) — An American soldier held captive four days by the Russians in Berlin said yesterday they threatened to harm his family in America if he didn't give them information.

The soldier, Pvt. J. Jacobson of Birmingham, Ala., was released yesterday.

The incident was disclosed by Col. Thomas F. Lancer, Berlin provost marshal, after Jacobson was released through what is left of four-power channels.

Jacobson was missed when he failed to report to his company last Sunday. Military police, acting on a hunch, asked the Russians if they were holding the soldier. The Russians said they were not.

Three days later the Russians admitted they were holding Jacobson and asked the Americans to come and get him.

Jacobson said he had been picked up by two Russian officers in a cafe just inside the Russian zone. Americans may enter the Soviet sector of Berlin but may not enter the Soviet zone, that part of Russian-occupied Germany outside Berlin proper.

Lancer said the Russians asked Jacobson "a lot of questions, mostly about life in the United States.

"Jacobson said they threatened harm to his family in America if he failed to give them information. When they found he didn't have any to give, they finally let him go."

Drama Behind the Scenes Rivals That Used By Writers of Plays

SHOW BIZ NOVELETTE: As "Tales of the South Pacific" opened in New Haven the other Monday night a little drama was taking place across the street. . . . When the new hit was being cast Bill Ferguson and his wife tried out for it. Evelyn was selected but Bill wasn't. . . . The last week of rehearsals were in New Haven.

Ferguson hired a baby-sitter in Manhattan and went there to be near his bride. . . . A restaurant called Kaysey's is opposite the Shubert Theatre. . . . Bill told the prop. his problem and got a job as waiter. . . . Composer Richard Rodgers (dining there) recognized Ferguson and could not eat.

"A man," he said, "who would do anything to be near his wife must be nuts about her!" . . . Ferguson is now in the show.

Curtain Calls: "Oh, My Country!" which Myrna Loy is sending from Europe. The star reports it "a must for every American."

Jane Froman's delightful repertoire at Copa City, where the deafening applause was thrilling to hear. This young lady is Top-Drawer and is stopping shows colder than ever.

Broadway Smalltalk: No matter how "At War with the Army" fares on Broadway, at least four members (prominently linked with it) will return to Yale. One is J. Allardice, the author. . . . Guy Lombardo has broken all the Roosevelt Hotel Grill Room records with his easy-on-the-ears band.

Characters Unlisted in Who's Who: "Granny Garters:" She peddles rainbow-hued garters from a cardboard crate on West 39th. She demonstrates them on her own meaty Dietrichs, explaining: "I useta get paid plenty for this at Miner's Burlesk on Eighth Avenue!"

"Numbers Natie:" Drugstore hanger-on and memory-marvel. Can tell you the phone number and exact address of any hotel, theatre or club in the Broadway belt. . . . The guy who sells giant-sized pretzels at 51st and The Street—who keeps studying (whatever he's studying) as he wraps them for you and makes change.

"Turnover:" Nicknamed that—because he bets you a drink he can stand on his head longer than you (or anyone) in the joint—and can! Otherwise he's a pretty distinguished looking gent.

Sounds in the Night: At the Hungaria: "She's a deb and this is her passing out party." . . . At the Stork: "Well, it's good to know Axis Sally lost the war." . . . At Lindy's: "Friendship is so dull and love is so exhausting, can't we just hate each other?" At the Trouville: "Don't move! Don't say a word! I wanna remember you just as you are—you hag!" . . . At Garrison's: "Give her three drinks and she goes hug-wild." . . . At the Old Knick: "Now I know what happened to her old nose. They're using it at Sun Valley as a ski jump!"

Chinese Restaurant Owner Tells Advantages of Real Eastern Food

ONE of the mysterious things about the mysterious East is comparatively few Chinese have heart disease or ulcers.

This cheerful fact is partly responsible for a boom in Chinese restaurants. People come to them in the hope that if they eat like the Chinese they'll feel as good as the Chinese.

"Now there are more than a thousand Chinese restaurants around New York," said Jimmy Yoeng, a patriarch in this field.

Jimmy, a smiling, ageless gnome who weighs only 110 pounds with a chopstick in each hand, is perhaps the man here who did most to transform the old off-the-Bowery Chinese chop suey parlow. He moved it uptown, kicked out the teakwood and mother-of-pearl tables, modernized it, and put in dance band music.

"Thirty to forty years ago many decent people wouldn't go into a Chinese restaurant," he smiled. "They didn't think it was respectable. All that is changed now."

Today, Yoeng said, only "newcomers and schoolchildren" order the twin standbys of the old-time Chinese restaurant—chop suey and chow mein.

"People now want to eat real Chinese dishes—the dishes we eat ourselves."

His own favorite is chow sang gai pan, described on his Lun Far restaurant menu as "fresh white meat of chicken deliciously sauted with hearts of bok choy, bamboo shoots, water chestnuts, fresh mushrooms and a touch of ginger."

American doctors have a high rate of heart disease. It is perhaps more than a coincidence, then that many of Jimmy's patrons are doctors.

"One doctor has sent me more than 50 of his patients who suffer from high blood pressure," he said. "I order the meals from many of them. After I talk to them a few minutes I can tell what is good for them."

Jimmy believes Cantonese cooking is the healthiest in the world because of its variety, and because it always combines vegetables with meat.

"In American cooking meat is usually fried, baked or broiled," he said. "But Chinese cooks can prepare meat from 50 to 75 different ways."

Yoeng thinks there is no place in the world for gourmets like Canton, his old home town in southern China.

"There is nothing anywhere to equal its shark fin soup. But it is expensive—$30 a bowl."

Jimmy is convinced after a lifetime in the business that Americans eat too much—and too often.

"No one can really understand your digestion but yourself," he said. "If your digestion is poor, eat more vegetables. If it is good, then you can eat more meat.

"Sometimes people complain that two hours after they eat in a Chinese restaurant they are hungry again. They should be grateful for that."

File Charge In Theft of 16 Chickens

Municipal Court Will Hear Case

A charge of breaking and entering and grand larceny was filed at noon today in Common Pleas court against Hugh Daugherty, 31, of Columbus, who allegedly stole a coop of 16 chickens from the farm of William H. Hursh near Shelby early Wednesday.

Meanwhile, Union county authorities asked permission to identify Daugherty as the perpetrator of several chicken and livestock thefts in that county.

Ten of the chickens, identified by Hursh from wing bands, were killed at 4:30 a. m., Wednesday in a grade crossing crash north of Shelby which also cost the life of Daugherty's companion, James Richardson, 47, of Columbus.

Daugherty, who claimed to be asleep at the time of the accident, suffered contusions of the lower back and scalp lacerations.

Richardson was killed when a Pennsylvania passenger train rammed his auto. Daugherty was incarcerated in Crawford county jail at Bucyrus after receiving treatment for his injuries at Shelby hospital. He was later removed to the Richland county jail when Hursh discovered his chickens missing.

Hursh told deputies the chickens were taken about 2 a. m. Wednesday, about two and a half hours before the fatal crash. The charge of breaking and entering, filed by Hursh, incorporates the grand larceny clause since the chickens were valued at $36.

No date for the hearing had been set. However, the case will be first heard in municipal court. The breaking and entering charge carries a penalty of one to 15 years; the grand larceny charge a penalty of one to seven years.

19 Apply For City Job

Nineteen men want to be caretaker at the city's new Clear Fork reservoir.

Service-Safety Director Earl T. Garrison said that many applicants showed up yesterday for interviews at the city building.

The job, created earlier this week by city council, will pay a salary of $190 a month plus a $25 monthly cost-of-living bonus and free living quarters at the reservoir site.

The appointment will be made as soon as applicants' standings in a civic service examination are determined, Garrison said. The exam is not expected to be held until April 21.

Gets Permit

A building permit was issued yesterday to A. R. Hahn, 206 Chilton avenue, to erect a $10,000, seven-room residence. Hahn reported the home, to be of brick construction, will be built at 225 Oakwood drive.

PHOTO FUSS—News photographers ran into rough sailing this week when, after photographing President Truman and his party swimming, they had the film confiscated by Secretary Charles Ross for 'security reasons.' Rafters Shake As Youngsters Join In Dance

The rafters shook and the floors trembled as the Richland county Farm Bureau Youth council's party for Richland county high school seniors got under way at the Grotto hall last night, with square and round dancing and circle games.

Over 200 seniors and Farm Bureau youth council members jammed into the hall for an evening's fun and refreshments, with students from Springfield, Madison, Bellville, Lucas, Shiloh, Plymouth, Union, Butler, Shelby, and Lexington high schools attending, and some boys and girls from Hayesville in Ashland county.

Best represented school, in proportion to the number of students in their senior class, was Springfield township which won a box of candy for having 71% of the class in attendance.

Lyle Berry, president of the Richland Farm Bureau Youth council, invited the group to attend all of the meetings held at Liberty park pavilion the second Thursday of each month.

New VFW Post Selects Name

The newly-formed VFW Post No. 9943 chose the name of "Mohican" Post No. 9943 at its meeting last night at the DAV Post No. 112 club rooms.

Plans for acquiring a home for the new group were discussed and the possibility was presented that the Post may have its own rooms by April 9.

Arthur E. Hoffman, commander of the post, said the Post would continue to meet at the DAV hall until a clubroom is obtained.

Held On Charge Of Non-Support

A Mansfielder and a Plymouth resident were held in county jail today on warrants from Ashland and Wyandot counties.

Arthur Emery, 44, of Mansfield, R. D. 1, was held for Common Pleas court in Ashland to show cause why he did not carry out the order of that court on a non-support charge.

Held for municipal court in Upper Sandusky was Charles D. Smith, 36, of Plymouth, wanted for the execution of a $20 fine growing out of an intoxication charge.

Violinist Praises Hearers, Auditorium

By MARGUERITE MILLER

The musical culture of America is being preserved in smaller cities such as Mansfield, Louis Kaufman, noted violinist, told Civic Music association patrons last night at the conclusion of his concert in John Simpson auditorium.

"In smaller cities the people either like you or they don't, and even if they don't they're still polite enough to listen," Kaufman continued.

"In New York you play to violinists who come to hear how you do it. Then, you 'operate' on the violin."

In an interview, Kaufman also gave a boost to the facilities and appearance of John Simpson auditorium, saying that the school auditorium is "much nicer than Town Hall in New York," where much of the tone of a violin is lost in "old draperies and poor construction."

Kaufman's concert, one of the most musically-satisfying of many seasons, was a blend of Old World masterpieces and New World contemporary works.

Appearing here for the last concert of the current season, Kaufman showed a mechanical perfection in his playing plus a deeply emotional understanding of the instrument.

The accompaniment, done in the very best of artistic taste, was presented by his attractive wife and professional partner, Annette Kaufman.

Both Kaufman and his wife-accompanist were perhaps the most "un-arty" artists to appear here in concert for some time. Deeply touched by the enthusiasm and appreciation of last night's audience, Kaufman graciously added five encores to his program.

Not one of the fine tones of the brilliant cadenza from Tschaikowsky's "Concerto in D Major" was lost to the audience last night which sat enthralled throughout the lengthy composition. Most patrons agreed that the technically difficult "Concerto" and the classic "Sonata No. 1 in G minor," by Bach were the highlights of the evening.

EVERY ONE A FAVORITE

However, every composition done on the sweet-toned Guadinini violin became a new favorite with the listeners. From the opening "Romanza" by Beethoven through the refreshing Americana spirit of Kaufman's closing selections, the audience followed every note.

Especially liked in the post-intermission part of the program were the plaintiff Hebrew lullaby, "Raisins and Almonds," by Collins; "Hungarian Dance in F major," by Brahms-Kreisler; "Danza Braziliana" by Triggs; the melodic Negro spiritual, "Here's One," by Still and arranged by Kaufman; and the flavor of the country square dance presented in "Hoe-down" by Copland.

Other selections included: "Piece en forme de Habanera," by Ravel; "Caprice No. 20," by Paganini - Kreisler; Bennett's "Allemande in swing," and the encores, "Spanish Tango," by Albanese; "Romance" by Rachmaninoff; "Gavotte" by Bach; "Ave Maria," by Shubert and "Old Refrain" by Kreisler.

LETTER OF THANKS

Sincere appreciation for the helping hand Mansfielders extended to the Roy Jackson family after the tragic fire on Feb. 15 which took the life of their six-months-old son and left them homeless, came today from the young parents. "There are so many people who have done things for us that we are unable to thank them personally," the mother wrote.

"We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to the kind neighbors who helped us the day our home was destroyed by the fire that also took the life of our six-month-old son, Dennis Lee; to the people who gave clothing and furniture and to the people of the neighborhood who gave money. Our thanks also to the men of Westinghouse for the money that was donated and to the many friends who sent cards and flowers."

The young parents, whose four-year-old son, Roy Dale, was saved from the blaze by a neighbor, reside with Mrs. Jackson's sister, Ashland, R. D. 2.

ENDS NECK-CRANING—

Mansfielders won't have to be a Jesse Owens to get ahead of a city bus to see where it's going from now on. All buses are now equipped with signs on the sides showing the destination of the vehicle. Final installation of the brackets to hold the metal black and white signs was completed yesterday at the bus garage.

★

ONE OF THOSE THINGS—

Some of the patrons of last night's Civic Music concert became a bit uneasy when one of the taut horse hairs in Louis Kaufman's violin bow broke and floated gracefully in the air while Kaufman presented the difficult Bach "Sonata." At the conclusion of the movement, Kaufman took his violin from under his chin and methodically snipped the loose hair from the bow and continued. Violin players in the city today termed it as "just one of those things." It made no difference in the quality of Kaufman's artistic delivery.

Group Checking Protests

Investigator Coming March 23

Richland county war veterans are not getting enough civil service postal jobs.

The Richland County Joint Veterans committee is making an investigation of the complaints that vets are not receiving preference on civil service lists, Secretary Paul Hammer said.

Hammer said Congressman J. Harry McGregor has been asked to help in checking on the complaints.

The protests also were referred to the Six Civil Service regional headquarters in Cincinnati, Hammer said.

The Cincinnati office will send an investigator here next Wednesday to investigate the complaints, Hammer added.

The investigator, Glenn H. Corbett, will be at the Amvets club rooms, on the West Fourth street road at 8 p. m. to hear complaints of veterans who have met with discriminatory practices in their applications for federal employment.

Hammer said all vets who have any complaint whatever regarding a civil service position should be at the meeting March 23.

In conjunction with the probe instigated by the JVC, the group also is attempting to rid the civil service of much of its hindering 'red tape' that keeps many a veteran waiting months to see if he is even qualified for a job, Hammer said.

Sale of Land Set Saturday

A sheriff's sale in partition of 75 acres in Mifflin township will be held at 10:30 a. m. tomorrow at the Richland county courthouse. The property is on Reed road, one-half mile north of U. S. Route 30, and is appraised at $4,500.

Sale was ordered in common pleas court in a partition action brought by Jesse A. Sleek, of Lexington, R. D. 2 against Courtney T. Hout, of Mansfield, R. D. 4, and 30 others.

The court found that Sleek's share could not be set off without injuring the value of the property and ordered the sale, with the proceeds to be divided among the owners.

Drama Behind the Scenes Rivals That Used By Writers of Plays

SHOW BIZ NOVELETTE: As "Tales of the South Pacific" opened in New Haven the other Monday night a little drama was taking place across the street. . . . When the new hit was being cast Bill Ferguson and his wife tried out for it. Evelyn was selected but Bill wasn't. . . . The last week of rehearsals were in New Haven.

Ferguson hired a baby-sitter in Manhattan and went there to be near his bride. . . . A restaurant called Kaysey's is opposite the Shubert Theatre. . . . Bill told the prop. his problem and got a job as waiter. . . . Composer Richard Rodgers (dining there) recognized Ferguson and could not eat.

"A man," he said, "who would do anything to be near his wife must be nuts about her!" . . . Ferguson is now in the show.

Curtain Calls: "Oh, My Country!" which Myrna Loy is sending from Europe. The star reports it "a must for every American."

Jane Froman's delightful repertoire at Copa City, where the deafening applause was thrilling to hear. This young lady is Top-Drawer and is stopping shows colder than ever.

Broadway Smalltalk: No matter how "At War with the Army" fares on Broadway, at least four members (prominently linked with it) will return to Yale. One is J. Allardice, the author. . . . Guy Lombardo has broken all the Roosevelt Hotel Grill Room records with his easy-on-the-ears band.

Characters Unlisted in Who's Who: "Granny Garters:" She peddles rainbow-hued garters from a cardboard crate on West 39th. She demonstrates them on her own meaty Dietrichs, explaining: "I useta get paid plenty for this at Miner's Burlesk on Eighth Avenue!"

"Numbers Natie:" Drugstore hanger-on and memory-marvel. Can tell you the phone number and exact address of any hotel, theatre or club in the Broadway belt. . . . The guy who sells giant-sized pretzels at 51st and The Street—who keeps studying (whatever he's studying) as he wraps them for you and makes change.

"Turnover:" Nicknamed that—because he bets you a drink he can stand on his head longer than you (or anyone) in the joint—and can! Otherwise he's a pretty distinguished looking gent.

Sounds in the Night: At the Hungaria: "She's a deb and this is her passing out party." . . . At the Stork: "Well, it's good to know Axis Sally lost the war." . . . At Lindy's: "Friendship is so dull and love is so exhausting, can't we just hate each other?" At the Trouville: "Don't move! Don't say a word! I wanna remember you just as you are—you hag!" . . . At Garrison's: "Give her three drinks and she goes hug-wild." . . . At the Old Knick: "Now I know what happened to her old nose. They're using it at Sun Valley as a ski jump!"

Chinese Restaurant Owner Tells Advantages of Real Eastern Food

ONE of the mysterious things about the mysterious East is comparatively few Chinese have heart disease or ulcers.

This cheerful fact is partly responsible for a boom in Chinese restaurants. People come to them in the hope that if they eat like the Chinese they'll feel as good as the Chinese.

"Now there are more than a thousand Chinese restaurants around New York," said Jimmy Yoeng, a patriarch in this field.

Jimmy, a smiling, ageless gnome who weighs only 110 pounds with a chopstick in each hand, is perhaps the man here who did most to transform the old off-the-Bowery Chinese chop suey parlow. He moved it uptown, kicked out the teakwood and mother-of-pearl tables, modernized it, and put in dance band music.

"Thirty to forty years ago many decent people wouldn't go into a Chinese restaurant," he smiled. "They didn't think it was respectable. All that is changed now."

Today, Yoeng said, only "newcomers and schoolchildren" order the twin standbys of the old-time Chinese restaurant—chop suey and chow mein.

"People now want to eat real Chinese dishes—the dishes we eat ourselves."

His own favorite is chow sang gai pan, described on his Lun Far restaurant menu as "fresh white meat of chicken deliciously sauted with hearts of bok choy, bamboo shoots, water chestnuts, fresh mushrooms and a touch of ginger."

American doctors have a high rate of heart disease. It is perhaps more than a coincidence, then that many of Jimmy's patrons are doctors.

"One doctor has sent me more than 50 of his patients who suffer from high blood pressure," he said. "I order the meals from many of them. After I talk to them a few minutes I can tell what is good for them."

Jimmy believes Cantonese cooking is the healthiest in the world because of its variety, and because it always combines vegetables with meat.

"In American cooking meat is usually fried, baked or broiled," he said. "But Chinese cooks can prepare meat from 50 to 75 different ways."

Yoeng thinks there is no place in the world for gourmets like Canton, his old home town in southern China.

"There is nothing anywhere to equal its shark fin soup. But it is expensive—$30 a bowl."

Jimmy is convinced after a lifetime in the business that Americans eat too much—and too often.

"No one can really understand your digestion but yourself," he said. "If your digestion is poor, eat more vegetables. If it is good, then you can eat more meat.

"Sometimes people complain that two hours after they eat in a Chinese restaurant they are hungry again. They should be grateful for that."

File Charge In Theft of 16 Chickens

Municipal Court Will Hear Case

A charge of breaking and entering and grand larceny was filed at noon today in Common Pleas court against Hugh Daugherty, 31, of Columbus, who allegedly stole a coop of 16 chickens from the farm of William H. Hursh near Shelby early Wednesday.

Meanwhile, Union county authorities asked permission to identify Daugherty as the perpetrator of several chicken and livestock thefts in that county.

Ten of the chickens, identified by Hursh from wing bands, were killed at 4:30 a. m., Wednesday in a grade crossing crash north of Shelby which also cost the life of Daugherty's companion, James Richardson, 47, of Columbus.

Daugherty, who claimed to be asleep at the time of the accident, suffered contusions of the lower back and scalp lacerations.

Richardson was killed when a Pennsylvania passenger train rammed his auto. Daugherty was incarcerated in Crawford county jail at Bucyrus after receiving treatment for his injuries at Shelby hospital. He was later removed to the Richland county jail when Hursh discovered his chickens missing.

Hursh told deputies the chickens were taken about 2 a. m. Wednesday, about two and a half hours before the fatal crash. The charge of breaking and entering, filed by Hursh, incorporates the grand larceny clause since the chickens were valued at $36.

No date for the hearing had been set. However, the case will be first heard in municipal court. The breaking and entering charge carries a penalty of one to 15 years; the grand larceny charge a penalty of one to seven years.

19 Apply For City Job

Nineteen men want to be caretaker at the city's new Clear Fork reservoir.

Service-Safety Director Earl T. Garrison said that many applicants showed up yesterday for interviews at the city building.

The job, created earlier this week by city council, will pay a salary of $190 a month plus a $25 monthly cost-of-living bonus and free living quarters at the reservoir site.

The appointment will be made as soon as applicants' standings in a civic service examination are determined, Garrison said. The exam is not expected to be held until April 21.

Gets Permit

A building permit was issued yesterday to A. R. Hahn, 206 Chilton avenue, to erect a $10,000, seven-room residence. Hahn reported the home, to be of brick construction, will be built at 225 Oakwood drive.

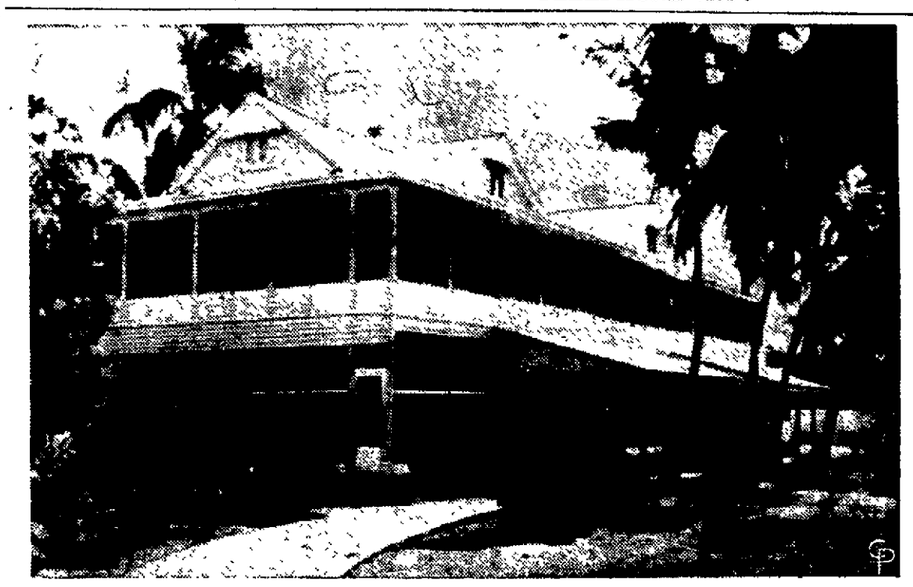

PHOTO FUSS—News photographers ran into rough sailing this week when, after photographing President Truman and his party swimming, they had the film confiscated by Secretary Charles Ross for 'security reasons.' A few of the aerial pictures were censored but shots of the 'winter White House' were approved for release. Ross later declared the controversial pictures 'invaded the President's privacy.'

Rafters Shake As Youngsters Join In Dance

The rafters shook and the floors trembled as the Richland county Farm Bureau Youth council's party for Richland county high school seniors got under way at the Grotto hall last night, with square and round dancing and circle games.

Over 200 seniors and Farm Bureau youth council members jammed into the hall for an evening's fun and refreshments, with students from Springfield, Madison, Bellville, Lucas, Shiloh, Plymouth, Union, Butler, Shelby, and Lexington high schools attending, and some boys and girls from Hayesville in Ashland county.

Best represented school, in proportion to the number of students in their senior class, was Springfield township which won a box of candy for having 71% of the class in attendance.

Lyle Berry, president of the Richland Farm Bureau Youth council, invited the group to attend all of the meetings held at Liberty park pavilion the second Thursday of each month.

Violinist Praises Hearers, Auditorium

By MARGUERITE MILLER

The musical culture of America is being preserved in smaller cities such as Mansfield, Louis Kaufman, noted violinist, told Civic Music association patrons last night at the conclusion of his concert in John Simpson auditorium.

"In smaller cities the people either like you or they don't, and even if they don't they're still polite enough to listen," Kaufman continued.

"In New York you play to violinists who come to hear how you do it. Then, you 'operate' on the violin."

In an interview, Kaufman also gave a boost to the facilities and appearance of John Simpson auditorium, saying that the school auditorium is "much nicer than Town Hall in New York," where much of the tone of a violin is lost in "old draperies and poor construction."

Kaufman's concert, one of the most musically-satisfying of many seasons, was a blend of Old World masterpieces and New World contemporary works.

Appearing here for the last concert of the current season, Kaufman showed a mechanical perfection in his playing plus a deeply emotional understanding of the instrument.

The accompaniment, done in the very best of artistic taste, was presented by his attractive wife and professional partner, Annette Kaufman.

Both Kaufman and his wife-accompanist were perhaps the most "un-arty" artists to appear here in concert for some time. Deeply touched by the enthusiasm and appreciation of last night's audience, Kaufman graciously added five encores to his program.

Not one of the fine tones of the brilliant cadenza from Tschaikowsky's "Concerto in D Major" was lost to the audience last night which sat enthralled throughout the lengthy composition. Most patrons agreed that the technically difficult "Concerto" and the classic "Sonata No. 1 in G minor," by Bach were the highlights of the evening.

EVERY ONE A FAVORITE

However, every composition done on the sweet-toned Guadinini violin became a new favorite with the listeners. From the opening "Romanza" by Beethoven through the refreshing Americana spirit of Kaufman's closing selections, the audience followed every note.

Especially liked in the post-intermission part of the program were the plaintiff Hebrew lullaby, "Raisins and Almonds," by Collins; "Hungarian Dance in F major," by Brahms-Kreisler; "Danza Braziliana" by Triggs; the melodic Negro spiritual, "Here's One," by Still and arranged by Kaufman; and the flavor of the country square dance presented in "Hoe-down" by Copland.

Other selections included: "Piece en forme de Habanera," by Ravel; "Caprice No. 20," by Paganini - Kreisler; Bennett's "Allemande in swing," and the encores, "Spanish Tango," by Albanese; "Romance" by Rachmaninoff; "Gavotte" by Bach; "Ave Maria," by Shubert and "Old Refrain" by Kreisler.

LETTER OF THANKS

Sincere appreciation for the helping hand Mansfielders extended to the Roy Jackson family after the tragic fire on Feb. 15 which took the life of their six-months-old son and left them homeless, came today from the young parents. "There are so many people who have done things for us that we are unable to thank them personally," the mother wrote.

"We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to the kind neighbors who helped us the day our home was destroyed by the fire that also took the life of our six-month-old son, Dennis Lee; to the people who gave clothing and furniture and to the people of the neighborhood who gave money. Our thanks also to the men of Westinghouse for the money that was donated and to the many friends who sent cards and flowers."

The young parents, whose four-year-old son, Roy Dale, was saved from the blaze by a neighbor, reside with Mrs. Jackson's sister, Ashland, R. D. 2.

★

ENDS NECK-CRANING—

Mansfielders won't have to be a Jesse Owens to get ahead of a city bus to see where it's going from now on. All buses are now equipped with signs on the sides showing the destination of the vehicle. Final installation of the brackets to hold the metal black and white signs was completed yesterday at the bus garage.

★

ONE OF THOSE THINGS—

Some of the patrons of last night's Civic Music concert became a bit uneasy when one of the taut horse hairs in Louis Kaufman's violin bow broke and floated gracefully in the air while Kaufman presented the difficult Bach "Sonata." At the conclusion of the movement, Kaufman took his violin from under his chin and methodically snipped the loose hair from the bow and continued. Violin players in the city today termed it as "just one of those things." It made no difference in the quality of Kaufman's artistic delivery.

Group Checking Protests

Investigator Coming March 23

Richland county war veterans are not getting enough civil service postal jobs.

The Richland County Joint Veterans committee is making an investigation of the complaints that vets are not receiving preference on civil service lists, Secretary Paul Hammer said.

Hammer said Congressman J. Harry McGregor has been asked to help in checking on the complaints.

The protests also were referred to the Six Civil Service regional headquarters in Cincinnati, Hammer said.

The Cincinnati office will send an investigator here next Wednesday to investigate the complaints, Hammer added.

The investigator, Glenn H. Corbett, will be at the Amvets club rooms, on the West Fourth street road at 8 p. m. to hear complaints of veterans who have met with discriminatory practices in their applications for federal employment.

Hammer said all vets who have any complaint whatever regarding a civil service position should be at the meeting March 23.

In conjunction with the probe instigated by the JVC, the group also is attempting to rid the civil service of much of its hindering 'red tape' that keeps many a veteran waiting months to see if he is even qualified for a job, Hammer said.

Sale of Land Set Saturday

A sheriff's sale in partition of 75 acres in Mifflin township will be held at 10:30 a. m. tomorrow at the Richland county courthouse. The property is on Reed road, one-half mile north of U. S. Route 30, and is appraised at $4,500.

Sale was ordered in common pleas court in a partition action brought by Jesse A. Sleek, of Lexington, R. D. 2 against Courtney T. Hout, of Mansfield, R. D. 4, and 30 others.

The court found that Sleek's share could not be set off without injuring the value of the property and ordered the sale, with the proceeds to be divided among the owners.

Boy Killer Sentenced

PHILADELPHIA — (UP) — Seymour Levin, 17-year-old crime comic book addict, was found guilty of first degree murder and sentenced to life inprisonment yesterday for the knife-scissors slaying of a young chance acquaintance.

The verdict and sentence were pronounced by three judges who two weeks ago heard the bespectacled youth plead guilty to killing 12-year-old Ellis Simons at the Levin home while his parents were away.

Levin trembled and chewed his fingernails each time Judge Gordon mentioned the word "Death" in the 40-minute pronouncement. The youth immediately was whisked from the court room and later will be taken to eastern state penitentiary to serve his life sentence.

Levin had admitted stabbing the Simon boy with a scissors and a bread knife at the Levin home last January after an argument over a cheap chemical set.

Today's Garden Graph

Hybrids Have Everything, Horticulturists Say

By DEAN HALLIDAY

The horticulturists have pretty well come to the conclusion that within certain limits the hybrids have everything—quality, yield, color and resistance to disease.

The development of hybrid corn recorded a new high in American agriculture.

Hybridizers have now made marked progress in developing newer and better tomatoes, cucumbers, egg plants, onions and squashes. Hybrid seed of some of these are available this year.

More and more home gardeners are learning the advantages of hybrid sweet corn. The yields are larger than the older kinds, the plants more vigorous and the ears more uniform. The quality also is superior.

Compare the roots system of the old type corn with the luxuriant roots of hybrid corn, as illustrated in the accompanying Garden-Graph.

Three favored hybrid sweet corns which are resistant to wilt are Golden Cross Bantam, Carmelcross and Marcross.

If you become an enthusiast over hybrid corn do not save the seed from your crop for replanting next year for it will not come true to form.

What is a hybrid? One answer is that a hybrid resulting from the cross of two varieties of the same species differs from a new variety that hybrid vigor is seen in the first generation, and usually gives rise to larger, stronger forms of growth.

Ken Raffensberger Trips Braves With Only One Run

TAMPA, Fla.—(U.P.)—Spring exhibition ball games don't go in the standings, but Ken Raffensberger of the Cincinnati Reds considered himself avenged today on the pennant champion Boston Braves.

He scored a five-inning one-run personal pitching victory against the Braves at Bradenton, Fla., yesterday. The first time he pitched against them at Bradenton last year they shelled him for five singles and a double for six runs in one inning while slaughtering the Reds, 14-3.

Before the game yesterday he said, "I'm certainly going to prevent anything like that happening today," and he achieved his goal. He produced one of the most effective mound jobs of the young grapefruit season by helping the Reds win, 9-4.

The Reds made nine hits off the pitching of southpaw John Antonelli in three innings during which they scored six of their runs. Antonelli is the youngster who received a $75,000 bonus last year for signing with the Braves.

Three victories in four games against Boston in the last six days have raised the Reds' morale. The Braves won the National league pennant last year, but lost out to Cleveland in the world series for the championship.

★

Make First Cut . . .

PHOENIX, Ariz. — (AP) — The New York Giants have made their first squad cut, dropping six pitchers. They were Bill Miller, Ken Van Gelder, Fred Volk, Andy Tomasic, Roger Bowman and Ted Heitsschmidt. They were sent to the Giants' minor league camp at Sanford, Fla., to be distributed between the triple A farms, Jersey City and Minneapolis. Infielder Billy Rigney returned to action yesterday after missing four days' practice following a heart attack.

★

Phil In Lineup . . .

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—(AP)—Shortstop Phil Rizzuto appears ready to leave the New York Yankees' hospital list. He broke into the lineup as a starter yesterday for the first time this spring and went all the way in the 17-inning 2-2 tie with Detroit.

★

Ferriss Shines . . .

SARASOTA, Fla.—(AP)—Enthusiasm is beginning to run higher here in the training camp of the Boston Red Sox who play the New York Yankees today.

For yesterday Dave Ferriss, a faltering young man for the past two seasons, pitched six innings in virtually midseason style. He gave up only one hit.

The Red Sox won 4-1 for their third exhibition victory in five starts.

★

Cards In Action . . .

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—(AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals return to action today, meeting the Boston Braves. The Cards took a holiday yesterday in observance of St, Patrick's day.

★

Pirates All Hit . . .

OAKLAND, Calif. —(U.P.)—The Pittsburgh Pirates' hitting power came out in full blossom last night as they walloped Oakland, 10 to 4.

Clyde McCullough and Walt Judnick connected for home runs as the Bucs battered rookie Bill Simon and old-timer Jim Tobin with an 11-hit attack. Bill McDonald, a $10,000 bonus pitcher, Murry Dickson and Woody Main shared the hurling chores for the Pirates.

★

Pete Out Again . . .

BRADENTON, Fla.—(U.P.)—Pistol Pete Reiser of the Boston Braves, who has had more than his share of injuries, was nursing a new one today in a strained leg.

Reiser suffered the strain in the sixth inning of yesterday's game against Cincinnati after he had pounded out two hits in three times at the plate. The Reds jumped on Johnny Beazley and Johnny Antonelli with equal ease and fervor to beat Boston, 9 to 4. It marked the Braves' fifth loss in six starts.

★

Senators Resume . . .

ORLANDO, Fla. — (U.P.) — The Washington Senators, with a full day of rest under their belts, resumed workouts today in anticipation of their next exhibition game against the Philadelphia Phillies at Clearwater, Saturday.

Goes to Boston

DAYTON — (AP) — Daniel A. Piloseno, University of Dayton football line coach for the last two seasons, yesterday was named to a similar post on the staff of Buff Donelli at Boston university.

Globe Trotters Slated For Game In Galion Armory

GALION — The famous Harlem Globe Trotters will make their only appearance of the season in this area Sunda when they meet the Galion Stars at 3 p. m. in the armory.

The Globe Trotters come to Galion with the remarkable record of 109 victories and six losses for the season. Probably the no. 1 traveling cage team in the world, the Trotters are noted for their fancy play and clever ball handling as well as clowning. They are in their 19th season on the road.

Veteran campaigner of the Trotters is Johnny Watts, forward and captain who is in his 11th year of pro ball. Watts has played 556 consecutive games with the team and averaged 22 points per contest.

Other club personnel: Pat Patters, Moragan college, 6-0; Bob Daughtry, 5-11, Virginia Union; George Gilbert, 6-5, who played with Great Lakes during the war; Proctor Kirk, 6-1; Goody Goodwin, 6-1, Tenessee A & M; and Wilbur Carter, 6-0, Wilberforce college.

Locke Rejoins Golf Circuit

JACKSONVILLE, FLA. — (AP) — Bobby Locke comes back to America's golf tour tomorrow to match shots against the rising generation of U. S. professionals.

The South Africa par-buster picked up a good bit of cash in his foray on American links last year. He might have had more first places if Ben Hogan hadn't been around to grab the lion's share.

Now, as Locke picks up the winter tour with the $10,000 Jacksonville open, Hogan isn't around. He's still in an El Paso, Tex., hospital bed after an auto accident last February.

Ted Kleinhans, Syracuse university baseball coach, is starting his third season as head of the Orange line.
